

DISAPPEARING DAUGHTERS

A major new report provides fresh evidence about the fate of millions of unwanted girls in India, where sex-selective abortion and neglect of girls continues unabated. ActionAid looks behind the figures to explore why parents make the choices they do, and asks what these worrying trends mean for future generations.

Christine McCafferty MP, chair of the all-party parliamentary group on population, development and reproductive health, invites you to the launch of Adverse sex ratios: a study from northern India.

SPEAKERS:

Professor Ravinder Kaur
(Indian Institute of Technology, New Delhi)
Vijayalakshmi Joshi (ActionAid)

CHAIR:

Samira Ahmed
Channel 4 News

MONDAY 23 JUNE 2008, 4-6PM

The Jubilee Room
(off Westminster Hall, St Stephen's entrance)
House of Commons
London SW1A 0AA

RSVP:

policyandcampaigns@actionaid.org

